Welcome to the 2009 AGM for Scottish Disability Sport. Yet another year has flown by and you just wonder where the time has gone.

We are again indebted to the many volunteers who work tirelessly in promoting Scottish Disability Sport, who in turn support our excellent staff throughout the year. As usual it’s been a busy year and many challenges have been faced throughout. We started the year with four new board members and I would like to thank all 11 for their support and assistance throughout the year. We even managed three training sessions through the Modern Sports Programme, funded by sportscotland, where we discussed many of the issues within SDS, the future programme and way forward. It’s important to mention Jed Renilson at this point and we are all delighted that he has made a full recovery and we hope to see his cheerful face at meetings and events in the not too distant future.

I am delighted that following the restructure of sportscotland we have finally moved into our new offices and for once we have space, hot desks and even enough space for a meeting and growth. Sadly we lost Gill Penfold, Emma O’Callaghan and Eliza Watson, however the rainbow was having Heather Lowden return as our partnership manager and meeting the new senior staff at sportscotland including Jacqueline Lynn, a long time supporter of SDS.

Throughout the year we have been bidding to host the CPISRA Football 7-a-side European Championships in August 2010 and hope to officially announce a successful bid sometime in October. The support and guidance from our partners the Scottish Football Association, Capability Scotland, Event Scotland, Greater Glasgow Marketing Bureau, UK Sport and Culture and Sport Glasgow has been outstanding and we look forward to hosting a good event.

We found two new venues for our National Events Programme and our congratulations go to Dundee for hosting the Carpet Bowls Championships and Dumfries and Galloway the Senior Swimming Championships. In hosting the International Bowls Test Match in July, Scotland was truly in winning form with a clear victory over England. Hopefully this is a good indicator for future events and indeed the Commonwealth Games in 2014. Sadly we lost James Smith who died suddenly a few days before the event and it is a credit to the team and organisers, in particular Richard Brickley, who worked tirelessly to ensure the success of the Test Match.

Our staff members continue to excel and we were delighted to welcome Grieg Taylor as our Assistant Football Development Officer. Throughout the summer we have three weddings, Board member Lauren McTaggart, and staff members Ruari Davidson and Claire Mands. We send our congratulations to all and wish them all the best for many years to come.

The most exciting development and challenge for SDS in the year ahead is ‘Regionalisation’. Through sportscotland we have been offered funding to secure four additional SDS posts, to work in partnership with local authorities sourcing potential athletes for 2014. There is also a possibility of further posts in 2010 and in the first stage we are looking at the West (two posts), the East and Grampian. We will also take this opportunity to reassess the staff structure and responsibilities within SDS.

It’s been a busy year and I must record our thanks to our staff team of Claire, Ruari, Caroline, Ailien, Greig, Cynthia, Norma and Richard all led by Gavin who have worked hard throughout the year.

For the coming year it’s all about restructuring, regionalisation and the CPISRA European Championships and with your continuing support I believe we are on the right pathway.

Gordon McCormack
Chairman
SDS is now at the midpoint of the current Strategic Plan, ‘Towards London and Beyond’ and the past year has seen a number of major developments and achievements that will pave the way for the later phases of this plan. 2008 / 2009 has seen record levels of investment in the Association, the implementation of an exciting new regional structure, a drive to identify new talent and a fresh commitment to investment in education & training.

The success of Scottish athletes at the Beijing Summer Paralympic Games is still fresh in our mind and as we progress towards London 2012 and Glasgow 2014, our athletes have continued to compete and achieve at UK and international level. I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all those athletes, along with their coaches, parents and support staff, who have trained, competed and represented SDS with distinction in the last year. I would also like to thank the vast army of volunteers and paid staff across Scotland who support SDS branches and sport specific programmes. These individuals are the life blood of SDS and contribute a vast amount of time and energy to ensure that Scottish athletes with a disability have the opportunity to meet their full potential.

The implementation of the new SDS regional structure is an extremely exciting development for the Association and over the next year we will see Development Manager posts introduced in the East, Grampian and West regions with a remit for talent identification and development. These posts will be directly linked to the Glasgow 2014 Commonwealth Games and will be responsible for developing the next generation of high performance athletes with a disability. The three Talent Identification Days that were held this year has already commenced this process and a number of athletes who attended these day have already been identified as having the potential to reach the very top of their chosen sport.

Another exciting initiative in the last year was the hugely successful SDS National Conference ‘Challenge to Change’ which undoubtedly raised awareness of the issues affecting children and young people with a disability in accessing physical education and sport. In response to this agenda, SDS in partnership with sportscotland will be offering disability inclusion training to education staff across Scotland in the year ahead.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the SDS Management Board for their hard work and commitment during 2008 / 2009. The Board is ably led by our Chairman Gordon McCormack and much of the work undertaken by this committed group of individuals goes unnoticed. I would also thank all the SDS staff for their loyalty and support in the last year along with the numerous sportscotland staff that support the Association in all areas of our work. We were all saddened to bid farewell to sportscotland staff Emma O’Callaghan, Gill Penfold and Eliza Watson this year as they undertake new challenges but I take this opportunity to wish them all well for the future. I would also like to thank all those local authority, governing body of sport and funding partners who continue to share the SDS vision and strive to provide the very best structures and pathways for athletes with a disability.

The past year has brought success and progress in all areas of the Association’s work but 2008 / 2009 has not been without its challenges. Increased investment in performance sport must be applauded and has undoubtedly benefited many Scottish athletes with a disability. However, this investment must be balanced with support throughout the sporting pathway if we are truly to achieve a sustainable legacy for disability sport in Scotland post 2012 and 2014. Traditionally strong partnerships are being threatened and shared values are being challenged at a time when resources at a local level are being squeezed and many children and young people with disabilities are not receiving a fully inclusive experience in physical education and sport. Within SDS we must strive to ensure that the needs of all athletes with a disability are taken into account and that all athletes are supported to progress through a robust and sustainable sporting pathway.

The year ahead promises much as SDS athletes once again seize the opportunity to compete across the globe. Our wheelchair curlers will compete in Canada, our footballers in Holland, our swimmers will be in Iceland and our boccia players will travel to Portugal. We will also learn if we have been successful in our bid to host the CPISRA Football 7-a-side European Championships in Glasgow next August. I wish you all every success wherever your sport may take you and I look forward to celebrating your success and development throughout 2009 / 2010.

Gavin Macleod
Chief Executive Officer
Review of the Year

SDS is delighted to welcome you to the 46th Annual General Meeting of the Association at the Windlestrae Hotel in Kinross. 2008 / 2009 has been a year of excitement, frustration and significant development as we continue to work toward the implementation of the outcomes and targets within our strategic plan ‘Towards London & Beyond: 2006-2012’. The success of the Summer Paralympic Games in Beijing has provided SDS with the foundations to build upon as we head towards London 2012. There were 11 Scottish debutants within Team GB in Beijing and we must now add to this number if we are to reach our target of 10% Scottish representation within Team GB in London.

SDS is already starting to reap the benefits of Glasgow’s successful bid to host the Commonwealth Games in 2014. Increased resources are being made available and many working partnerships are being strengthened to ensure that 2014 will be the most successful Games ever for Scottish athletes with a disability. There will be unprecedented levels of support and publicity in the run in to the Glasgow Games and this will be a once in a lifetime opportunity for SDS athletes to compete in front of a home crowd. In the last year Glasgow 2014 resources have been made available to enable SDS to establish a regional structure of Development Managers with a remit to identify and develop sporting talent. These officers will have the responsibility for ensuring a seamless pathway for sporting talent to progress from regional structures, through SDS squads and programmes, onto international representation.

These new regional posts will link closely to the established SDS branch structure which continues to drive the development of opportunities at a grass roots level. In the last year, SDS has worked closely with all 15 branches and special recognition must go to the army of volunteers who continue to give their time to create opportunities for athletes with a disability to participate and compete in their local area. All 15 SDS branches have been involved in the implementation of Minimum Operating Requirements in the last year ensuring best practice in governance, sports development and child & vulnerable adult protection. The SDS branch structure continues to receive substantial support from Scotland’s local authorities and staff. This support of the volunteer network is critical and we take this opportunity to thank Scotland’s local authorities.

SDS is also reliant on strong working partnerships at all levels of our sport specific pathways. Our sport specific performance plans are produced in conjunction with the mainstream governing body of sport to ensure best use of resources, manpower and expertise. Scottish athletes with a disability continue to benefit from their inclusion in the Scottish and Area Institute of Sport networks as they progress to representation on UK programmes.

Perhaps most importantly, SDS continues to benefit from the expertise, skill and knowledge of the large number of volunteer co-ordinators, coaches, carers and support staff who support our athletes within their sport specific programmes. We thank you all for your ongoing support.

The eight medals won by Scottish athletes at the Summer Paralympic Games in Beijing were the highlight of last year’s achievements but Scottish athletes with a disability have continued to achieve on the international stage during 2009 / 2009. A comprehensive list of achievements can be seen later in this Annual Report but successes that merit special mention include Peter and Stephen McGuire’s gold medals at the European Boccia Championships, the eight medals won by Scottish athletes at the INAS-FID Global Games, the 4th place finish for Scotland’s Blind Bowlers at the World Blind Bowls Championships and the 5th place finish for Team Scotland at the World Wheelchair Curling Championships. SDS would like to congratulate all those athletes who continue to be exceptional ambassadors for their country whilst competing on the international stage and act as an inspiration for all those wishing to pursue a career in sport.

SDS also continues to co-ordinate and deliver a comprehensive programme of opportunities for athletes with a disability to participate, train and compete in their chosen sport. In the last year, SDS has run 17 national events, covering nine different sports and attracting almost 1,500 competitors. National squads have trained and competed throughout the year and an International Bowls Test Match was also staged in Fife this summer. SDS has also supported Scottish teams to compete in UK and international level competitions in the sports of athletics, badminton, boccia, bowls, football, swimming and wheelchair curling. Specific projects were also run in the last year in an endeavour to identify new sporting talent and to introduce this talent to the SDS family. Three Talent Identification Days were run in Dundee, Glasgow and Stirling, a new partnership has been established with the Spinal Injuries Unit at the Southern General Hospital and the well established Summer Sports Camp was once again held at the National Sports Centre Inverclyde.
Review of the Year

Education and training remains a key priority for SDS and in the last year over 600 participants have attended courses run by Association personnel. SDS has also been actively involved at a UK level in influencing the roll out of the UK Coaching Framework and in the development of a new UK Disability Inclusion Training Course. Perhaps the highlight of 2008 / 2009 was the staging of the SDS National Conference, ‘Challenge to Change’ which attracted over 200 delegates to the Edinburgh Conference Centre, Heriot Watt University. This Conference debated and addressed some of the issues currently affecting children and young people with a disability when accessing physical education and sport.

SDS is proud of the large number of key partners who continue to support the work of the Association at all levels. The downturn on the economy has had a significant impact on our finances in the last year so more than ever, we extend our thanks to the large number of organisations and agencies who continue to support the work of the Association. sportscotland, Capability Scotland, Nationwide and the Scottish Disabled Sports Trust along with Scotland’s local authorities and governing bodies of sport have provided much needed resources to support the development of disability sport across Scotland and we thank them all most sincerely. Special thanks this year go to the Sportsman’s Charity whose support of SDS will end after six years. The Sportsman’s Charity have supported local and sports development programmes during this time and we hope that we will be able to resurrect this partnership in the future.

SDS continues to enjoy a special working relationship with sportscotland and this has been maintained following their recent relocation to their new base in Glasgow. sportscotland have always been a key partner for SDS and we would extend special thanks to Heather Lowden, Andy Bruce and John Gheel in particular for all their support during 2008 / 2009. We would also like to extend our thanks and wish every success in the future to Gill Penfold, Emma O’Callaghan and Eliza Watson all of whom have left sportscotland for pastures new in the last year.

2009 / 2010 promises to be another exciting year for the Association with significant developments both at national and international level. We look forward to the successful implementation of the SDS Regional Structure and the undoubted benefits this initiative will bring, we will continue to support our branches through the implementation of the minimum operating requirements and we eagerly await the roll out of Disability Inclusion Training to education staff across the country. Scotland’s wheelchair curlers will compete for Team GB at the Winter Paralympic Games in Vancouver, we will learn if our bid to host the CPISRA Football 7-a-side European Championships in Glasgow next summer has been successful, Scottish swimmers will feature in the GB team at the IPC European Swimming Championships in Iceland, our cyclists will compete at the UCI World Cycling Championships in Manchester and the World Boccia Championships in Portugal will provide our boccia players with the opportunity to compete against the world’s best.

The list of achievements that follow describe in more detail just how much has been achieved during 2008 / 2009 and these successes are testament to the hard work and commitment of athletes, coaches, volunteers and staff and the strong working partnerships that always have and always will be the key to success for disability sport in Scotland. There are numerous threats and challenges to these partnerships at this time so it is more important than ever that every effort is made to ensure that shared agendas are developed and implemented to ensure the best possible environment of athletes with a disability in Scotland to participate, train, compete and achieve.
